

Britestream prices slashed

Waterco has reduced the price of its Britestream LED lights by 15 per cent.

"Although this technology is over 50 years old, it's only recently that technological advancements have made LED lighting more practical and cost efficient, not to mention more reliable," says George Flory, Waterco's domestic water care product manager.

"Quality LEDs last longer, are more durable, plus they offer comparable or better light quality than other types of lighting. The rapid development of this technology naturally leads to more products and improved manufacturing efficiency, which also results in lower prices."

Britestream lights deliver up to 352 lumens of light (white LEDs), only require 15 watts of energy and last approximately 70,000 hours.

Flexible flow meter

Waterco's most sophisticated precision flow meter for swimming pools, spas, fountains and water features now has a specialised model ideal for pool heaters.

Since the introduction of the FlowVis 50/65mm, Waterco has found a demand from pool heater equipment suppliers and installers for a 40mm model. As with the FlowVis 50/65mm, it is perfect to install in conjunction with variable/multi-speed pumps.

It's vital to have optimal water flow rates through all pool heating systems, to maximise efficiency and heater performance. The FlowVis 40mm option enables accurate pump operating speed adjustments to ensure optimal water flow to the pool's heating equipment. The result is a balance between heating performance and energy savings.
